My husband, Richard and I were married on May 16, 1970 in Beauford Ontario.

We were on a limited budget so after a small wedding and buffet with an evening of dancing, our plans included a trip to Niagara Falls.

Unfortunately we couldn't stay overnight but spent a day there.

We toured the sights and some attractions and spent a lot of time in the Skylon plaza.

We bought the typical romantic souvenirs - a picture of us in a barrel going over the Falls.

A heart shaped pillow with love poem a sweetheart charm bracelet and a glass bowl with our names inscribed on it.

After 23 years I still have those souvenirs!

We walked the steps and one highlight I'll always remember.

We were walking holding hands with the look of honeymooners and people would look and smile at us.

You felt like a celebrity being pointed out as honeymooners at Niagara Falls.

We were to end our day with dinner at the top of the Skylon.

Now that took alot of persuasion on the part of my husband because I like my feet planted on the ground!

I couldn't see myself rising upward in an elevator which resembled a little yellow bug, with the sky under me!

Fortunately, I did alot of persuading of my own and was able to convince my new husband to forgo those plans, due to the fact it was a dull day and it had been raining and he wouldn't be able to see the sights anyway.

He agreed, with a sigh of relief, on my part, we walked off happily.

Now over the years - I'm getting better with my fear of heights and we have spent a romantic weekend at the Falls, but I'll always remember that first time as newlyweds, with mist in the air and love in our eyes for the majestic wonder of Niagara Falls!
