My husband Tom and I had a beautiful, memorable, inexpensive and unplanned honeymoon in Niagara Falls, Canada, 21 years ago on April 15, 1972.

We had planned a small wedding and reception, with a honeymoon later on when we could afford one.

The church wedding went as planned and as we were leaving the church it started to rain. I felt real bad as rain depresses me and thought why now on my wedding day. But my friend said don't be sad as rain is supposed to be good luck on your wedding day.

We left our wedding reception at midnight to go to our little apartment. But my husband said let's at least go get a room for the night.

The next morning, we went home and counted what we got for wedding gifts. My husband said lets go up to Niagara Falls for a couple days, as it is only 1 and half hrs. from here and maybe it would not cost much and we could have a few days away. So we packed a few things and away we went. I was so happy we were going to get a little honeymoon.

The sun had been shining, and I thought how beautiful. But as we approached the Peace Bridge for Niagara Falls. it started to downpour. Again I said why rain for our honeymoon?

We drove over the bridge and got a room close by the falls. As I got out of the car, I stepped in water up over my high heels. I could of sat down and bawled. But I kept thinking things will get better.

As we sat in our room, figuring out what we could do or see in the rain it quit and the sun came out so bright. Was I happy then.

From then on through the whole next two days it was cool but sunny.

We took on of those bus tours from the hotel to see what we could and everything was just beautiful. We really had a great time and enjoyed it so much and even came home with money in our pocket.

Now whenever we can, we like to go back to one of our most memorable and inexpensive trips we have taken. And usually on our anniversary in April, even though it is not always the best weather time of the year, we like to go back and relive our beautiful un-planned honeymoon to the honeymoon capital of the world.

Thanks yo Niagra Falls, Canada we shall always treasure our honeymoon.

Thank You
