Gedra Honeyman Memories

What a pleasure it is to write about and relive the memories of our honeymoon weekend spent at Niagara Falls. As a young college couple, thirty-five years ago this April - we first felt the romantic allure of the Falls. It seemed like the perfect choice; as we had little money and less time and couldn't travel far. We stayed on the highest floor available at the Hotel Sheraton Brock where the view from our room is etched in our minds like the print on a post card. We ate in the Rainbow Room where our complete dinner from appetizer to dessert cost $3.75 and the most expensive breakfast was $1.50. Our souvenir menus are a delightful way to reminisce. We have visited the Falls every year since 1958, staying at different hotels and motels on package get-away weekends; even taking our children and walking on the rocks when the falls were dry; that was a once in a lifetime experience. My husband and I have never been disappointed in seeing this great natural wonder and feeling the mist on our faces as we stand overlooking the falls. Each year we walk up Clifton Hill, take in a museum, have a glass of wine in a small eating or outdoor cafe and check out the many shops and attractions available. The names of the stores and the prices have changed but not the enjoyment of seeing all the happy people of all races and nations. After thirty-five years we still remember the magnificence and beauty of the first visit. Our last words as we cross back over to the United States and head home are always..... "I'll be back"!!

Hopefully you'll give us a chance to do it all over again this year.

Sincerely,

Mary Ouellet
