

1947

Our honeymoon which has lasted for forty-six years began in beautiful Niagara Falls.

We were married in Delhi on February 15, 1947. We chose Niagara for our honeymoon because neither of us had seen the Falls although we only lived ninety miles away.

Not owning a car we took the Greyhound bus to Niagara. The trip was fun because the bus driver centered us out as honeymooners. The odd tell tale confetti in my hat and our big smiles, not to mention our destination, gave us away.

With reservations for accommodations for the best place in town,

"The General Brock Hotel," overlooking the Falls, we felt like millionaires.
To our amazement our bell boy was a young fellow we knew well from home.

During our stay we took our remaining two hundred dollars, prepared to see everything in Niagra.
A tour by taxi for ten dollars was extremely extravagant, but we saw the barge in Niagra River, the rapids, burning tower, Hydro plant and up town Niagra. We went across the bridge to Goat's Island where we could almost touch the water from a board walk.

The power behind the rolling, rushing, surging water is awesome and frightening at the same time.

Every night the very frozen and picturesque Falls were lit up with a rainbow of colour from the nearby Hydro Building. He didn't miss a night watching the moving lights.

He took in all of the attractions around the Falls area which were no comparison to to-days Niagra. One theatre provided us with two picture shows, "No Leave, No Love" and "You Can't Live Forever."

Over the years we have gone back to Niagra for special anniversaries and in summer with visitors to show them, "Over Falls". For us it's like renewing our love and vows to each other everytime we are near these gorgeous, spectacular gift Ontario has to offer the rest of the world.

The location for our honeymoon is one thing neither of us would change. It's definitely, "Honeymoon City", made exclusively for lovers. In three more years we will celebrate our Fiftieth Anniversary, Niagra Falls here we come again.
